NEW YORK DISCOVERS NATHAN HALE AT LAST

Thousands Find Martyr, Now Being Moved, Has Adorned Mail St. All That Time.

HAS TO CARRY RED LIGHT

Fact That Shifting of Hero Embarrasses Him Does Not Worry City Employees.

There were persons in this town yesterday who discovered that there was a Mac-Monnies statue of Nathan Hale. Since 1893, when the Sons of the Revolution of the State of New York had the statue put in Mail street near Broadway, it had attracted little attention from the thousands who passed it daily. But there must be more subways and the Broadway-Lexington avenue route has to be built, so Nathan Hale in bronze had to be moved.

The Park Department shifted the statue after some difficulty to a spot just east of the City Hall entrance. There the statue stood yesterday while hiundreds of persons stared at it-persons who had skipped it every day for years in Mail street because they were looking at other things. They saw the inscription, "I regret that I have but one life to lose for my country,' and wondered what it meant.

All Wednesday night a red light hung from the statue. The city laborers began to move the statue on Friday afternoon and got it in front of the City Hall by 5 o'clock. In the opinion of Corporation Counsel Watson a city employee cannot be made to work more than eight hours under the new eight hour law and if he works overtime he cannot be paid for it. And the city employee, a patriot, doesn't work overtime, even when moving a Nathan Hale statue. When the eight hour whistle sounded the laborers stopped in their tracks, when the eight hour whistle sounded the laborers stopped in their tracks, turned loose the horse that had been hauling the statue and tied a red lantern to Nathan Hale.

When the eight hour men got on the job yesterday morning the red lantern was removed from the statue and, with ropes around the shoulders of the figure, it was hauled about twenty feet and left in a conspecious part of the plaza, so that pedestrians might stop and admire one of the city's best pieces of sculpture.

Once more the question of where Nathan Hale was hanged by the British was revived. Several years ago Sun readers engaged in a controversy on the subject. It would seem that he was hanged at Market street and East Broadway, at Forty-fifth street and First avenue and opposite the Dove tavern west of the East Post road, which is now Sixty-seventh street and Third avenue. There were others equally certain that the hanging had taken place at or near the spot where the statue stood in Mail street. But Historian Doyle of the City Hall, who said he had made extensive inquiries, insisted yesterday that Capt. Hale had been caught by the British crossing the Connecticut River. Take your choice.

MEN'S SUMMER CLOTHES

For Town or Country Wear at Prices 10% to 15% Less Than Quoted Elsewhere for Clothes of Identical Quality.

Macy's suits are really ready-for-service clothes made to our special order. They require fewer alterations than in the case of the average custom-made suits.

The materials of which the suits are made, in quality, pattern and colorings, are those which a smart custom tailor would place at your disposal.

Whatever a man's proportions, he can be sure to find in our large stock not one, but several models to please him.

In short, the hard-to-please man may get at Macy's exactly what he had in mind to get without having to pay exorbitant prices for the privilege. Macy's Men's Department offers the maximum of stability of wear and ability of tailoring for the minimum expenditure. In style, service and value Macy's gives the utmost.
